SUMMARY OF MATERIAL CHANGE

The Company announced it has concluded the purchase of an 88% interest in the Morococha silver mine in central Peru for $36 million. The remaining 12% is held by a number of Peruvian investors.

ITEM 5.

FULL DESCRIPTION OF MATERIAL CHANGE

Pan American Silver Corp. is pleased to announce it has concluded the purchase of an 88% interest in the Morococha silver mine in central Peru for $36 million. The remaining 12% is held by a number of Peruvian investors.

Year-to-date the Morococha mine has produced more than 2 million ounces of silver, together with significant amounts of byproduct zinc, copper and lead, at a cash cost, net of by-product credits, of $3 per ounce of silver. Pan American is expecting to consolidate Morococha's production as of July 1. The addition of Morococha will help reduce Pan American's consolidated cash costs below $3.50 per ounce of silver on a total of more than 11.5 million ounces of production in 2004, rising to a forecast 14.5 million ounces in 2005.

Under the acquisition agreement, the profits generated by the Morococha operation since the first of the year are retained in Compania Minera Argentum SA (Argentum), the entity that holds most of the Morococha assets. At closing Argentum had in excess of $5.2 million in working capital. In addition, Pan American will receive immediate benefits from the synergies generated between Morococha and its other Peruvian assets, particularly the Huaron mine which is located only 80 km away.

Morococha hosts a very large and prolific network of veins and replacement bodies within a mineral rights package covering 11,620 hectares of historically productive and highly prospective concessions. Pan American will now begin a two-year, 46,000 meter exploration drilling program to convert the property's resources into reserves and to exploit its outstanding exploration potential. The Company also intends to carry out a program of increased mine development and mill upgrades to enable long-term production of approximately 4 million ounces of silver annually at a cash cost below $2.50 per ounce.
